

The Unusual Career

You are going to either Interview a person who has an "Unusual Career", or schedule a "Guest Speaker" with an Unusual Career".

Interview

You are going to interview a person who has an "Unusual Career". You may complete this interview either by telephone or in person. The purpose of this assignment is to expose you to a wider variety of career choices and it is also to make you aware of some of the less common option available to you.

Your interview of this person needs to last 15-20 minutes. You need to spend enough time to learn about the job, but do not take too much of the person's time. The career you choose must be one that can support a family, not just a fun job. Make sure you include the type training it takes, how the person got involved this career and a salary range.

Pre-plan you interview.

Use a question list. I have one you can use to get started. Select a minimum of 13 questions to ask.

Type the questions leaving a blank spot for the answers. Leave space to ask spontaneous questions that come as the interview progresses. Don't stick to the script but have it there so you will remember to get all the information. Then TYPE the questions and answers to turn into the teacher. You may use only seven questions from my sheet. Six must be your own questions.

The heading for the questions to be turned in must include:

Your name and period

Career Title

Name of person interviewed and How to contact them

Date of Interview

Part of the interview assignment is an oral presentation about your interview in 2-5 minute presentation to the class. You may use your notes for this.

Guest Speaker

We have two days in December set aside for guest speakers. That allows 6-8 total speakers. First sign up, first get!

If you schedule a speaker, you do not have to do the written report!

The speaker should plan to take 20-30 minutes of class time.

The written assignment is due A day Monday, December 3rd.

B day Monday, November 26th.

Guest speakers are scheduled for:

A day Monday s, December 3rd and 17th.

B day Mondays, November 26th and December

10th.

If your guest speaker fails to show, you will receive a zero.
