

Just for Manuel

Manuel liked school. At school he had a place of his own where he could sit and work. That was his special place.

At school Manuel had a place to put his coat. He always put his coat there. That was Manuel's special place, too.

At home there was no special place for Manuel. His home was an apartment building. The building was old. The apartment was very small.