

The Shop Owner

Ah Jim put his face against the window. The little	10
dog was still there. Ah Jim wanted that dog. He didn't	21
want the monkey. He didn't want the frog that had	31
jumped inside his shirt.	35
The man who owned the shop came outside.	43
"You again!" he said. "You come to look through	52
my window. So I wash off finger marks all day long.	63
Please go."	65
Ah Jim saw that the window was almost covered	74
with marks. He turned and ran.	80
Around the corner he stopped. He thought about	88
all the finger marks on the window, the marks he had	99
made. He turned and went back to the shop.	108