Accessories, apparel, avant-garde, classic, composite, design detail, draped, fad, fashion, fashion cycle, fit, garment type, haute couture, ready to wear, silhouette, style, tailored, trend, wardrobe.

Standard 2

Identify fashion products.

- Goods – tangible items that are made, manufactured, or grown. They include apparel, textiles, accessories, and other fashion products.
- Services – intangible things that people do, such as tasks performed for customers. They include tailoring, cosmetology services, and stylist.

STRAND 2

Students will examine the basics of fashion marketing and associated careers. *Performance Skills for this strand included below

Standard 1

Define marketing terms.

- Marketing – The process of developing, promoting, and distributing products to satisfy customers' needs and wants. It is a series of activities that fashion businesses undertake so that customers will buy products from them instead of their competitors.
 - Marketing Concept – To market effectively, fashion marketers follow the principles of the marketing concept, which is the idea that businesses must satisfy customers' needs and wants in order to make a profit.
 - Target Market – The specific group of people that a business is trying to reach.
 - Market Segmentation – Identifying a group of consumers, or target market. A way of analyzing a market by categorizing specific characteristics.
 - Fashion Merchandising – The planning, buying, and selling of fashion apparel and accessories to offer the right merchandise blend to meet consumer demand.

Standard 2

Describe the 4 Ps of marketing.

- Product – What a company is offering for sale to customers to satisfy their needs and wants. Includes goods and services.
- Price – The amount of money consumers will pay for a product.

- Place – The way products are distributed and their systems of delivery. Includes how, when and where the product will be distributed, and where to purchase an item.
- Promotion – Any form of communication that a business or organization uses to inform, persuade, or remind people to buy its product.

Standard 3

Describe the 4 methods of market segmentation.

- Demographics – Personal characteristics such as age, gender, income, ethnic background, education, religion, occupation, and lifestyle.
- Geographic – Statistics about where people live. Could include region, city, county, and climate.
- Psychographics – Social and psychological characteristics such as attitudes, interests, and opinions.
- Behavioral – Analyzing customers with regard to sales generated, shopping patterns, as well as purchase decision-making processes such as brand loyalty, special occasion purchases, etc.

Standard 4

Describe the seven marketing functions.

- Market Planning – Understanding concepts and strategies used to develop and target specific marketing strategies to a select audience.
- Marketing Information Management - The world of fashion is ever-changing. Gathering information is critical. Information is obtained primarily through marketing research, which helps fashion businesses determine their customers' preferences & how-to better market products. Businesses are able to effectively use the information through marketing-information management systems. The five main elements are: input, storage, analysis, output, and decision making.
- Product/Service Management - Fashion businesses must develop, maintain, & improve their products in response to customer demands. Fashion producers look for new ways to use existing items or produce new ones that will continue to interest the consumer. For example: a current textile in apparel is spandex. Although this material has been in existence for years, its popularity increased when designers began using it for women's & men's active-wear fashions.
- Pricing - A primary goal of any business is to make a profit. A key factor in achieving this goal is to price a product accurately. Pricing includes how much to charge for goods & services in order to maximize profits. Although companies price their merchandise based on what the customer is willing to pay, they must be careful not to set prices so low that a business does not make a profit.
- Channel Management - Responsible for identifying, selecting, monitoring, and evaluating sales channels. Each channel of distribution is a path or route that goods and services take from the producer to the ultimate consumer or industrial user. These paths or routes aren't physical, however. Instead, they refer to businesses or - people who perform a variety of activities to enable products to be in the right places at the right times.

- Promotion - When new or existing products are developed, fashion marketers must promote their products to make sales. Promotion is the communication technique a business uses, such as advertising, and other promotional methods, to interest customers in buying the products. Manufacturers also promote their merchandise to retailers through catalog & Internet methods.
 - Selling - The selling function involves the direct personal contact that businesses have with their customers. Developing good selling skills is especially important for selling more expensive apparel and designer fashions. Sales personnel must be able to communicate the benefits & features of the items so that customers are willing to pay higher prices.

Standard 5
