

Preschool Data

2020-2021 Survey Results

Background

This following summarizes responses from the 20-21 annual preschool survey. Please consider the following limitations when interpreting this data.

- The COVID-19 pandemic likely impacted the data.
- The data are voluntarily self-reported by program directors. As a result, all preschool programs throughout Utah are not represented. In addition, data may be incorrect due to self reporting. Due to the voluntary nature of the survey, survey respondents may have changed from other years.
 - Using information from a variety of sources, we contacted 371 total preschool programs in the state. We received usable responses from 189 of the possible programs we contacted (response rate = 51% of possible programs)
 - Response rate from private providers was 44%
- Increases in data from last year to this year do not necessarily represent a growth in preschool programs, rather an increase in survey respondents.
- Approximate preschool-age population for the state was calculated using data from the Early Childhood Integrated Data system (ECIDS) and may not accurately capture changes in population from children moving in/out of state or mortality rates.
