

ACT Online Testing FAQs

This page contains the answers to the most frequently asked questions about online vs. paper administration of the ACT test. Check here for quick answers to most questions

Q. Where can I find the technical requirements information for administering the ACT online?

A. You can find information the technical requirements for the online testing on Utah's ACT Website (<https://www.act.org/content/act/en/products-and-services/state-and-district-solutions/utah/the-act.html>) under heading 2 - Configuration, Technical Requirements for Online Testing. If you have further questions about technical requirements, you can call the customer service number that is listed in the gray box on the website and they can answer any additional questions you might have.

Q. Does everyone in our LEA have to do online testing if one school wants to do online testing?

A. You can manage paper or online down to the student level if you wish. Some schools prefer to do all one mode of testing, while others prefer to select testing modes down to the student level. The only thing you cannot choose to do is mix modes of testing for the same student. If a student starts a test with paper testing, they cannot switch to online testing, and vice versa.

Q. Can we still participate in online testing if our school does not own the computers we would use to administer testing (i.e., if we rent computers for testing?)

A. No. Part of the security and technical requirements require advanced set up of computers. The school must own the computers that the tests will be administered on.

Q. How do we select the mode of testing we wish to do?

A. Testing coordinators manage testing through PearsonAccess^{next}. Download instructions on using PearsonAccess^{next} from Utah's ACT Website under the Configuration heading.

Q. What are the requirements for online testing and how are they different than paper testing?

A. the following table can help to answer the questions about the differences between online and paper testing:
